	We are continuing to review letters as well as separating and blending sounds in words. We are rhyming words and working on identifying beginning and middle sounds in words. As we read stories students are identifying characters, setting and major events and comparing and contrasting the stories.	We are currently working on addition, then we will move on to subtraction. You can support your child's learning by having him or her add and subtract objects up to 10 and do the same for subtraction. It is a good idea to start by doing only to 5 then adding and subtracting to 10.
	Writing	Science/Social Studies
	We are currently working on informative/expository writing. We are drawing and writing sentences about community workers make the community better.	In science, we are currently learning about textures, and weight. Then we will go on to discuss how we can change matter such as tearing, smashing, and ripping. In social studies, we are discussing celebrations and making our community better.
UPCOMING DATES TO REMEMBER	Sight Words: Work on the second 9 weeks' list reading and writing the words to memorize them.
